License to Use Recording of Speech or Presentation

I, the undersigned, hereby agree that the University of Rochester ("the University") may record by audiotape, videotape or other media, my presentation at the Humanities Project Event "Commerce and Culture: The Impact of the Business of Books on the Literature of the Americas" held or to be held at the University on November 5, 2007. In consideration of the fees paid to me for that presentation, I hereby grant to the University a perpetual, non-exclusive, royalty-free license to make the entire recording freely accessible for educational purposes without charge to the public, via the internet, the University libraries, or such other media or method as the University may choose from time to time.

I understand that I may revoke this license at any time upon written notice to the University Provost. This license is not intended to transfer any other right of ownership besides what is expressly granted in my presentation, including copyright, to any person or entity.

Signed:

Lisa Dillman

Date: 11/5/07
License to Use Recording of Speech or Presentation

I, the undersigned, hereby agree that the University of Rochester ("the University") may record by audiotape, videotape or other media, my presentation at the Humanities Project Event "Commerce and Culture: The Impact of the Business of Books on the Literature of the Americas" held or to be held at the University on November 5, 2007. In consideration of the fees paid to me for that presentation, I hereby grant to the University a perpetual, non-exclusive, royalty-free license to make the entire recording freely accessible for educational purposes without charge to the public, via the internet, the University libraries, or such other media or method as the University may choose from time to time.

I understand that I may revoke this license at any time upon written notice to the University Provost. This license is not intended to transfer any other right of ownership besides what is expressly granted in my presentation, including copyright, to any person or entity.

Signed:

[Signature]

Jack Kirchhoff

Date:
License to Use Recording of Speech or Presentation

I, the undersigned, hereby agree that the University of Rochester ("the University") may record by audiotape, videotape or other media, my presentation at the Humanities Project Event "Commerce and Culture: The Impact of the Business of Books on the Literature of the Americas" held or to be held at the University on November 5, 2007. In consideration of the fees paid to me for that presentation, I hereby grant to the University a perpetual, non-exclusive, royalty-free license to make the entire recording freely accessible for educational purposes without charge to the public, via the internet, the University libraries, or such other media or method as the University may choose from time to time.

I understand that I may revoke this license at any time upon written notice to the University Provost. This license is not intended to transfer any other right of ownership besides what is expressly granted in my presentation, including copyright, to any person or entity.

Signed:

Chad W. Post

Date:
License to Use Recording of Speech or Presentation

I, the undersigned, hereby agree that the University of Rochester ("the University") may record by audiotape, videotape or other media, my presentation at the Humanities Project Event "Commerce and Culture: The Impact of the Business of Books on the Literature of the Americas" held or to be held at the University on November 5, 2007. In consideration of the fees paid to me for that presentation, I hereby grant to the University a perpetual, non-exclusive, royalty-free license to make the entire recording freely accessible for educational purposes without charge to the public, via the internet, the University libraries, or such other media or method as the University may choose from time to time.

I understand that I may revoke this license at any time upon written notice to the University Provost. This license is not intended to transfer any other right of ownership besides what is expressly granted in my presentation, including copyright, to any person or entity.

Signed:

[Signature]

Daniel Shapiro

Date:
License to Use Recording of Speech or Presentation

I, the undersigned, hereby agree that the University of Rochester ("the University") may record by audiotape, videotape or other media, my presentation at the Humanities Project Event "Commerce and Culture: The Impact of the Business of Books on the Literature of the Americas" held or to be held at the University on November 5, 2007. In consideration of the fees paid to me for that presentation, I hereby grant to the University a perpetual, non-exclusive, royalty-free license to make the entire recording freely accessible for educational purposes without charge to the public, via the internet, the University libraries, or such other media or method as the University may choose from time to time.

I understand that I may revoke this license at any time upon written notice to the University Provost. This license is not intended to transfer any other right of ownership besides what is expressly granted in my presentation, including copyright, to any person or entity.

Signed: [Signature]

Jonathon Welch

Date: