THE LAMENT OF SHAH JEHAN.

I.
She is dead; for the Mystic All-seeing
Has hidden her soul wing its flight
To His realm, and the Sun of my being
Is shrouded in infinite Night.

II.
What are empery, riches, or pleasure,
In a world whence her spirit has fled?
What is life, when bereft of its treasure,
Its love? . . . My Beloved is dead.

III.
All nations shall come as of duty
To worship the path that she trod,
To gaze on the Shrine of her beauty
Who rests in the Garden of God.

IV.
I have pillowd thy tomb in the azure
Of Heaven, mine Arjmand sweet;
And bountiful Earth, for thy pleasure,
With beauty caresses thy feet.

V.
So sleep, loving Heart; for to-morrow
Seraph his trumpet shall sound,
And souls that have slumbered in sorrow
Shall break from the desolate ground.

VI.
Then pass through the domes of thy prison;
Outsoar the dominion of Fate;
By the path where Love’s incense has risen
Thou shalt find me at last in the Gate.
