SORROW.

Exceeding sorrow
Consumeth my sad heart!
Because to-morrow
We must depart
Now is exceeding sorrow all my part.

Give over playing,
Cast thy viol away
Merely laying
Thine head my way
Prithee give over playing, grave or gay.

Forget to-morrow,
Weep nothing, only lay
In silent sorrow
Thine head this way,
Let us forget to-morrow this one day.

Ernest Dowson.

CLAUDE DEBUSSY,

WRITES UPON THE COMPOSITIONS OF

CYRIL SCOTT

AS FOLLOWS:

"Cyril Scott is one of the finest artists of the present generation. His choral experiments, his technique, even his spirit of writing, may at first sight, appear strange and disconcerting. Tantalizing severity, however, compels him to carry out to the full his particular system of harmonies, and his only."

"This music unfolds itself somewhat after the manner of those Japanese rhapsodies which, instead of being confined within traditional forms, are the outcome of imagination displaying in innumerable arabesques. And the incessantly changing aspects of the inner melody are an intoxication for the ear—ear, in fact, treasured. All these qualities are more than sufficient to justify confidence in this musician, or exceptionally equipped, although quite young."

"Cyril Scott’s Songs are amongst the most delightful and original in the English Language."

"Cyril Scott’s Pianoforte Works merit recognition from all those who are in any way interested in the trend of modern music."

"We have very few English writers of any note for the piano to-day, but of these, Cyril Scott is in the very front rank."—From The Musical Standard.
