Songs

BY

ARTHUR FOOTE.

I'm wearing away.

Oh, my love's like a red, red rose.
The pleasant summer's come.
When icicles hang by the wall.
Love's philosophy.
If you become a nun, dear.
Ojala! would she carry me!

Go, lovely Rose.

It was a lover and his lass.
Milkmaid's Song (from "Queen MARY").
Love took me softly by the hand.
Ho! pretty page.
Ask me no more!
Elaine's Song

"Sweet is true love."

Album of Songs, for Mezzo Soprano or Baritone (op. 26)

On the way to Kew.

Love from o'er the sea.

In Picardy.

O swallow, swallow flying south.

Love in her cold grave lies.

LOVE FROM O'ER THE SEA.

The Poem by ERNEST FLOWER.

To George J. Parker.

ARTHUR FOOTE.

Laughing seas and smiling skies, All the world rejoices;

Opening leaf and budding flower, Spring's awakening voices:

Life and love return to earth, You came back to me, O welcome, wel-come to my heart a- gain, Love from o'er the sea!

With the west wind in your hair,
Salt spray on your face, Well-ing tide and spreading sail

Hurry on a pace Hurry on a - pace! For the winter has been long And I wait, I wait for thee, Oh! welcome to my heart again.

Love from over the sea! Love from over the sea
