"The Way To Slumberland"

Wm. FELTER.
THURLOW LIEURANCE.

Andante.

This is the way to slumberland, You take the dream God
Over the valley where sweet dreams grow, Over the garden where by the hand, Then off you go rock-a-by to.

Over the hill-tops of sweet by-lo. Rocked in the cradle
Up in the tree tops by-lo by-lo. Rocked by the branches to and fro. Over the mountain of sweet by-lo.
to and fro. High in the dream tree of sweet by-lo.

Close your eyes my pretty one, Sleep till the break of till the morning

Lull-a-by, Mother is rocking you.

The Way To Slumberland 3.
Lullaby, Your eye lids droop as rose leaves do.

Lullaby, Sweetly slumber darling.

Mother will rock you away to sleep, Lullaby.
In the twilight when the shadows all have sunk to rest,
When the busy mill is silent, and the night is still,
And their rosy glow is lingering.
When from out the gathering shadows

faintly in the West, Then I miss you more dear sweetheart calls the whippoorwill, In the silence I am lonely.

Shadows hold you not. Life no more is sweet at twilight,
Filled with longing dear, Just once more to feel your presence,

A tempo. Con Expressione.

Since you passed away in silence, joy no more is near.

\[ \text{Sheet Music Image} \]

When you made no sign or token, I was lonely dear.

\[ \text{Sheet Music Image} \]
Had your heart in those days spoken Words of love to me,

Nothing now could make me linger Dear away from thee.

But my heart is bowed in anguish, We are far apart,

And my days are filled with longing To be near dear heart.

Wm. FELTER.  THURLOW LIEURANCE.

Moderato, Con-Grazia

Tell me saucy little pansy,
Tell me royal purple pansy,

Wet eyed with the morning dew,
If the rose should bend and
Resting on my sweethearts breast.
Is the passion of her
