Now Sleeps The Crimson Petal.

Now sleeps the crimson petal, now the white;
Nor waves the cypress in the palace walk;
Nor winks the gold fin in the porphyry font:
The fire-fly wakens: waken thou with me.

Now folds the lily all her sweetness up,
And slips into the bosom of the lake:
So fold thyself, my dearest, thou, and slip
Into my bosom and be lost in me.

TENNYSON.

TENNYSON

Music by
ROGER QUILTER

Slow, with emphasis.

Now sleeps the crimson petal, now the white;

Nor waves the cypress in the palace walk;
Nor winks the gold fin in the porph'ry font:

fire-fly wa-kens: wa-ken thou with me...

with passion

Now folds the li-ly all her sweet-ness up,........
And slips into the bosom of the lake:

So fold thyself, my dearest, thou, and slip,

pp ad lib.

slip Into my bosom and be lost,............ be lost in me.          dying away

IF I WERE SURE

Words by E. LUCKTON.
Music by FRANCIS DORSLER.

If I were sure that love was never faithless,
I should not mourn though love seemed now in vain,
But wait for some great day of perfect gladness,
When God shall make love's golden song a pain!

Night, and a wooing bird,
Night, and the echoes call,
The sound of a whisper'd word,
And a hush more sweet than all.

Ah, come to me—Love still has roses sweet as those of yore.
Then come when'er you will, I love, I love you still,
Ah, come to me—And become mine, once more.
