IN THE VALLEY.

1.
Myriad birds in the thicket sing,
Glancing and flitting on eager wing,
Leaves are green on the branches still,
But the autumn airs breathe chill.

2.
Spring is over and Summer gone,
But the birds in the valley still sing on
To the broad brown hills and the quiet sky,
Though Winter is drawing nigh.

3.
The slow wind sighs and the skies are grey,
But the little birds pipe so shrill, so gay,
So sweet to-day are the songs they sing,
They will waken the banished Spring.

"Little birds pipe so shrill, so gay; So sweet today are the songs they sing. They will waken the banished spring."

The handwriting is in English and appears to be discussing the music and its emotional content.

CLAUDE DEBUSSY,

WRITER UPON THE COMPOSITIONS OF CYRIL SCOTT.

"Cyril Scott is one of the foremost artists of the present era. His rhythmic experiences, his technique, even his style of expression, are so unique and incomparable, indefeasible by any other, that his music is a revelation to the music lover. All his works are more than sufficient to justify the high estimation of the public, and to the young, they are an inspiration for the study of the modern trends in music."

--- From The Musical Magazine. ---

"Cyril Scott's Songs are among the most delightful and original in the English Language."

--- From The Musical Magazine. ---

"Cyril Scott's Piano Works merit the closest attention from the most discriminating critics. His music is to the young what Beethoven was to the old. His compositions are fresh and original, full of melody and spirit."

--- From The Musical Magazine. ---

"We have very few English writers of any note for the piano to-day, but of them, Cyril Scott is the very best."

--- From The Musical Magazine. ---
