When Love Comes Singing

Words by Sara Teasdale

Music by
F. Dewey Richards

THE JOHN CHURCH COMPANY
CINCINNATI NEW YORK LONDON
When love comes singing to his heart,
    That would not wake for me,
I think that I shall know his joy
    By my own ecstasy.
And though the seas were all between
    The time their hands shall meet,
My heart will know his happiness
    So wildly it will beat.
And when he bends above her mouth
    Rejoicing for her sake,
My soul will sing a little song
    But oh! my heart will break.

—Sara Teasdale.
When Love Comes Singing

SARA TEASDALE

F. DEWEY RICHARDS

Allegro moderato

When love comes singing to his heart
That would not wake for me.

think that I shall know his joy
By my own ecstasy.

From Harper's Magazine: Copyright, 1909, by Harper & Brothers

Copyright MCMXII by The John Church Company International Copyright cy
And though the seas were all between ime their hands shall meet, My heart will know his hap-pi-ness, So wildly it will beat..

And when he bends above her mouth Rejoicing for her sake, My soul will sing a little song. But oh! my heart will break.____

molto legato

rit

molto rall. mf adagio dim. pp

18710-3